Ban Female Genital Mutilation in D.C.

Subject: Support B25-247 and End Female Genital Mutilation in D.C.

Sample Text:

Dear Councilmember [Last Name],

Protecting all girls from female genital mutilation (FGM) is very important to me, which is why I'm writing as your constituent today to urge you to support B25-247, a comprehensive anti-FGM bill that includes education and outreach for communities and professionals in the District of Columbia.

FGM is a practice that involves altering or injuring the female genitalia for non-medical reasons, and it is internationally recognized as a human rights violation. FGM can result in negative health consequences, difficulties during childbirth, lifelong psychological and emotional trauma, and in some cases, even death.

Our elected officials need to prioritize this important issue.

The practice of FGM is generally motivated by beliefs about what is considered proper sexual behavior and cultural ideas of femininity and modesty. It is not, however, mandated by any major religion, although it has been adapted by patriarchal religious sects and societies. FGM is also considered a way to reduce a woman's libido, safeguarding virginity and marital fidelity.

On January 5, 2021, the federal law banning FGM was reaffirmed, and although it helps provide protection for those at risk of FGM, state-level bans can go a step further to make sure this practice is not tolerated in the United States. In fact, the best way to ensure the safety of women and girls is to back up the federal ban with comprehensive state legislation.

A 2016 report by the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention estimates that there are 513,000 women and girls in the U.S. who are at risk of or have undergone FGM. According to the Population Reference Bureau, an estimated 51,411 of those impacted women and girls live in the Washington-Arlington-Alexandria metropolitan area. I encourage you to act on their behalf and help institute state-level protections. This abuse can't be ignored any longer.

41 states have passed laws banning FGM. As our national capital, D.C. passing an anti-FGM law would be a momentous moment, leading the way and inspiring yet more states to take action to protect women and girls across the whole U.S. I urge you to prioritize passing a comprehensive bill that bans FGM in our nation's capital.

Sincerely,
